Q1. Read the passage and answer the following questions:

Papaya is the healthiest fruit with a long list of properties. Belonging to the family of Caricaceae fruit, it is commonly known as Papaw in Australia and Mamao in Brazil. It was first originated in Southern Mexico and neighbouring Central America but is now available in every tropical and sub tropical country. Papaya favours digestion as well as cures skin irritation and sunburns. You can munch on it as a salad, have it cooked or boiled or just drink it up as milk shakes or juices. Modern Science confirms the age old beliefs that papaya has much to contribute to health cause. The most important of these virtues is the protein – digesting enzyme in the milky juice or latex. The enzyme is said to be so powerful that it can digest 200 times of its own weight in protein. It helps the body in collecting the maximum nutritional value from food to provide energy and body building materials.

Papain is found in raw papaya that makes up for the deficiency of gastric juice and fights stomach irritation. The ripe fruit, if eaten regularly, corrects constipation. The juice of papaya seeds also helps our body.
