“Children learn as they play. Most importantly, in play children learn how to learn.”

Dear Students, Parents and Educators
Greetings!

It gives me great pleasure to extend my warmest greetings to you through this edition of our school E- Newsletter. I am delighted to present to you this edition, a reflection of the creativity, hard work, and growth of our students. Your constant support and encouragement have played a vital role in shaping their success and development. In today's fast-paced and ever-evolving world, academic excellence alone is no longer the sole benchmark of a successful education. While strong academic foundations remain important, the growing complexities of life demand a more well-rounded and comprehensive approach to learning — one that nurtures not only the mind, but also the heart, body, and spirit of every learner.

At Dwarka International School, we believe that true education must encompass the overall growth of a child — intellectually, emotionally, socially, physically, ethically and artistically. Our responsibility as educators is not just to teach facts and formulas, but to help shape responsible citizens, critical thinkers, compassionate leaders, and resilient individuals who can navigate life's challenges with confidence and empathy.

At our school, we strive to create an environment where learning extends beyond textbooks. Through sports, arts, leadership programs, community service and collaborative projects, we provide students with opportunities to explore their potential in various dimensions. These experiences build character, enhance communication skills, and foster a spirit of innovation and teamwork—qualities that are crucial in any career path.

Holistic development is, therefore, the need of the hour. It is at the heart of everything we do. From sports and performing arts to community service and leadership opportunities, we strive to provide platforms that shape confident, compassionate, and responsible global citizens.

Together—with the support of our dedicated teachers, engaged parents, and vibrant community—we are committed to empowering every student to reach their fullest potential.
