"True education empowers a child to be confident, compassionate, and capable of leading with values."

Dear Parents, Teachers and Students

Greetings!

As we stepped into the vibrant months of August and September, our school community was surrounded by the colours, sounds, and spirit of numerous festivities like-Rakshabandhan (Rakhi), Sharad Navratri and Dussehra (Vijayadashami). These festivals were not just occasions to rejoice, but they brought with them teachings, values and a chance to re-connect with heritage, unity, and faith.

These were the months when cultural heritage came alive, traditions were celebrated, and hearts were full of joy and gratitude. In our school, the Rakshabandhan was celebrated with great pomp and show. Through Rakshabandhan, many of our students observed in a deeper way what this bond of protection means – caring, responsibility, and standing by one another. It was a reminder that in our school family, each one has a role to support, uplift, and protect.

We marked Navratri with Dandiya Night as a tribute to Maa Durga. Navratri helped us pause, look inward, and renew our commitment to noble character, discipline and respect for the divine in each other.

We held a Ramlila performance in Dwarka , Sector-13 Ramleela ground presenting the story of Lord Rama's journey and the destruction of Ravana. The students involved—actors, stage crew, narrators—did a commendable job, reminding all of us of courage, righteousness, and moral strength.

Through Dussehra, children were encouraged to see that each day we face choices, and choosing what is just, what is kind, and what is true is a way to live the festival beyond the ritual.

The values we cultivated from these festivals are: Unity in Diversity ,Gratitude & Humility, Generosity & Compassion , Reflection & Renewal and Joy & Togetherness .

Studies and educational philosophies also emphasize that celebrating festivals in school helps children internalize moral values, cultural awareness and respect.

Let us remember: Kindness is stronger than anger; Truth is mightier than falsehood and Inner courage, even quiet, is powerful.

Let the light of these festivals shine inside you always.

May we continue to celebrate, reflect, grow and live with integrity.

With deep gratitude and warm regards,

Ms. Shweta Oberoi
Principal
